The President Speaks

As your ninth grade president, I feel that this year will be emotionally and academically important. Most colleges begin reviewing our academic achievements at this time, so it is imperative that we work to our highest capacity. I, as well as my peers, will devote the majority of my time to my studies. This year will be very emotional for many of the ninth grade students. A great many of these

HEADQUARTERS

The office staff is another of the many dimensions which make up C.E.S. The members are a team, working together to keep our school running smoothly. Although they work towards a common goal, they each have individual opinions and personalities. In order to show you another dimension of our office staff personnel we have asked them the following questions —

How would you summarize working in the office?
Do you have any interests outside of work?

Marion Collins — Principal
"It's a lot easier than last year." "I love to sew. I sew all the time."

Ann Carrere — Vice Principal
"Hectic, busy days with lots of responsibilities." "I am presently working on my doctorate in Institutional Management. This takes a great deal of time. I do love to ski, play tennis, bicycle, roller skate, and to go to concerts."

Wayne Moore — Coordinator
Please refer to the dimension feature article with Mr. Moore.

Q How would you summarize working in the office?

A Quote: Work????!! Who works? I come here just for fun and because I enjoy the students so much. But seriously folks, the staff is perfect. Mrs. Allan tells me funny jokes, Mrs. Draznin makes me sign in just like real work, Mrs. Collins asked me to move to the new building, Ms. Oka told me that one day I might graduate from high school, and Mrs. Carrere lets me do yard duty. What a setup! As you can see, IT'S a team effort.

Q Do you have any interests outside of work?

A Please don't tell too many people; but yes I do. I get the most satisfaction from physical activities: Dancing & gymnastics, working out at the gym and individual sports like swimming, tennis, handball and beginning skiing. I'm a balcony gardener and am working on a certificate in Landscape Architecture at UCLA. I enjoy reading and all performing arts except Opera. I usually don't go because it's in a foreign language. A perfect weekend for me would be spent camping in the bottom of the Grand Canyon, hiking every day and photographing everything for a home slide show.

I've asked Mr. Johnson, our Bus Supervisor, to teach me how to drive a bus blindfolded. I think we might offer it as an elective someday!

Please print all of this — I want to send a copy to my old high school, and maybe, Mom.

Jeff Robbins — Counselor
"Hectic, but interesting." "Many! History, photography, classical music, historic restoration, and architecture, guitar, folk music, travel, films, reading and above all, my family."

Aileen Tanida — Attendance Office
"Busy —." "I love to do creative crocheting and sewing and I'm an avid L.A. Dodgers fan!"

Shirley Drazin — Office Manager
"One word — Chaotic!" "I'm too tired after work . . . I call it collapse."

Elaine Austin — Financial Manager
"I enjoy it, particularly the student contact." "Listening to music, drawing and dancing (in that order)."

Linden Beckford — College Advisor
 "Working in the college office involves putting in long hours. However, it's very rewarding . . ." "I enjoy spending time with my family, reading, travelling, gardening, writing . . . letters, play soccer, cricket, and I jog and lift weights."

Setsuko Oka — Head Counselor
 "Busy, interesting and challenging." "I like to do needlepoint and to run at the beach and cooking — I love to cook!"

Dan Kaufman — Psychologist
 "Interesting but sometimes hectic. I enjoy being a part of the inner workings of a school and having contact with the students." "Skiing, photography and exercise."

Laurice Sommers — Counselor
 "Hectic, there is a lot of pressure, but I like the contact with students." "Photography, cooking, I jog whenever I get the chance, reading, music, and art."

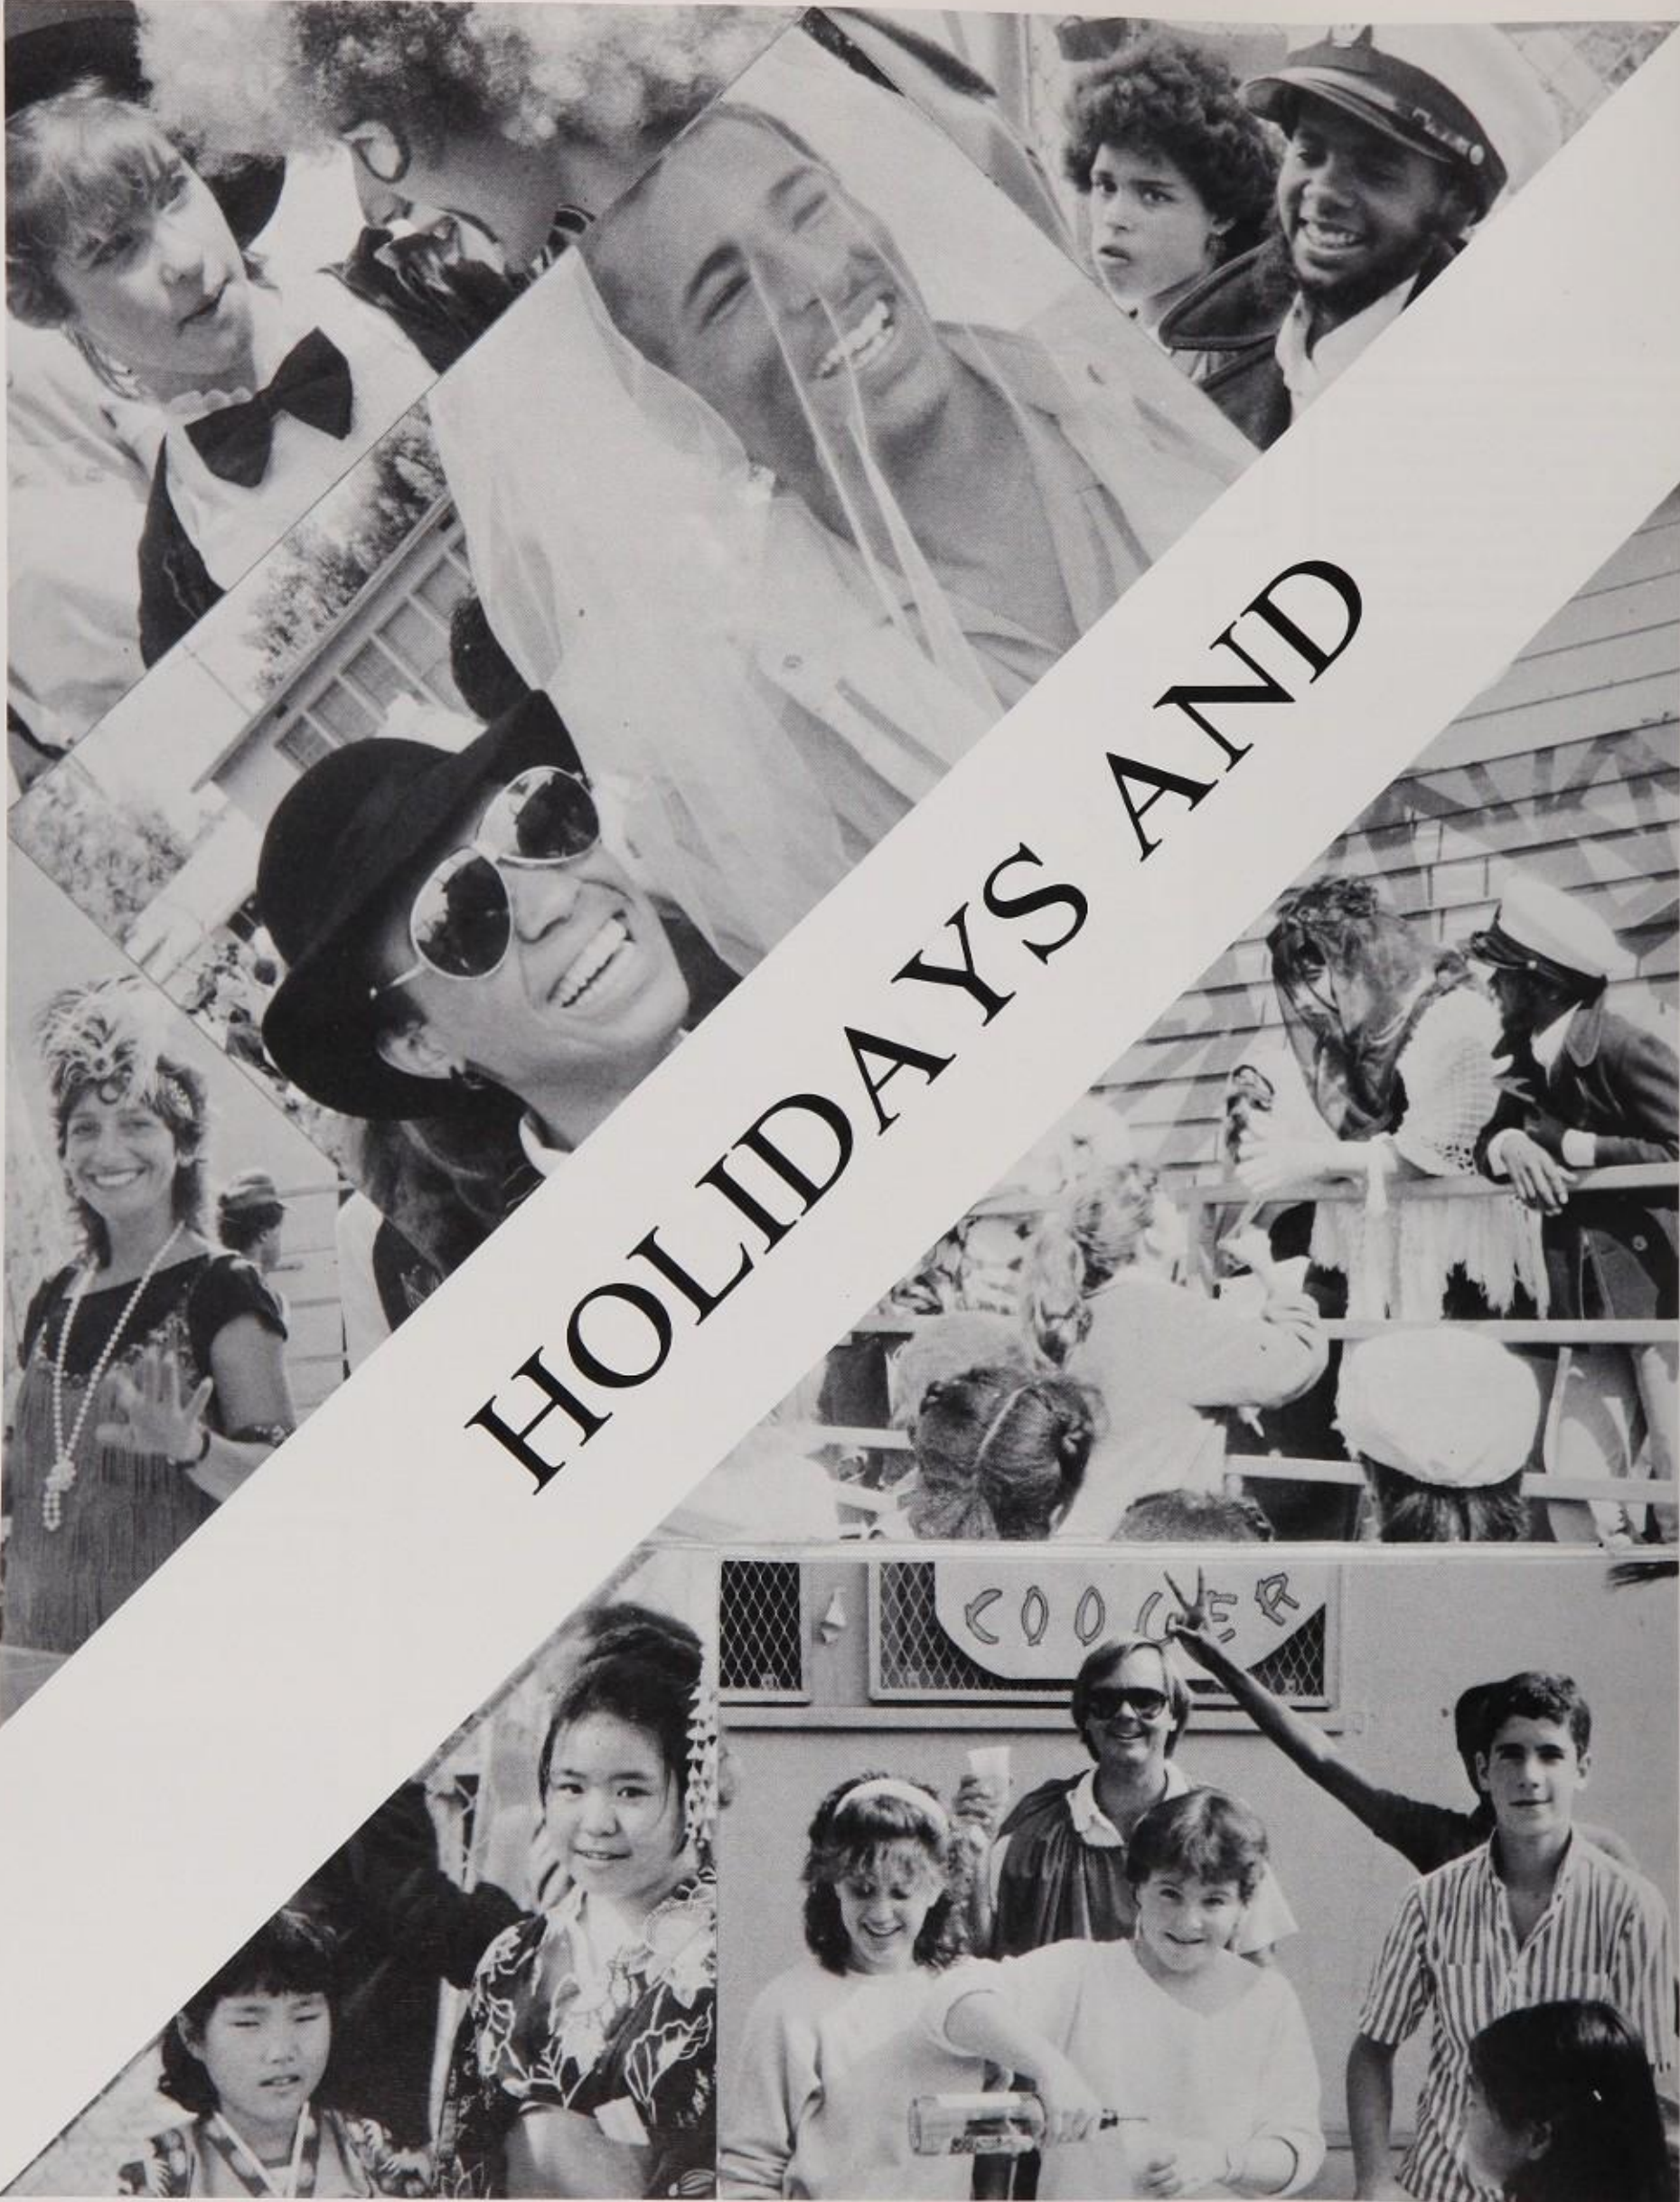

Marilyn Wilson — Counselor
 "Busy!" "Golfing and reading."

Linda Allen — Textbook Clerk
 "There is excitement to be found everywhere you go." "Sleeping!"

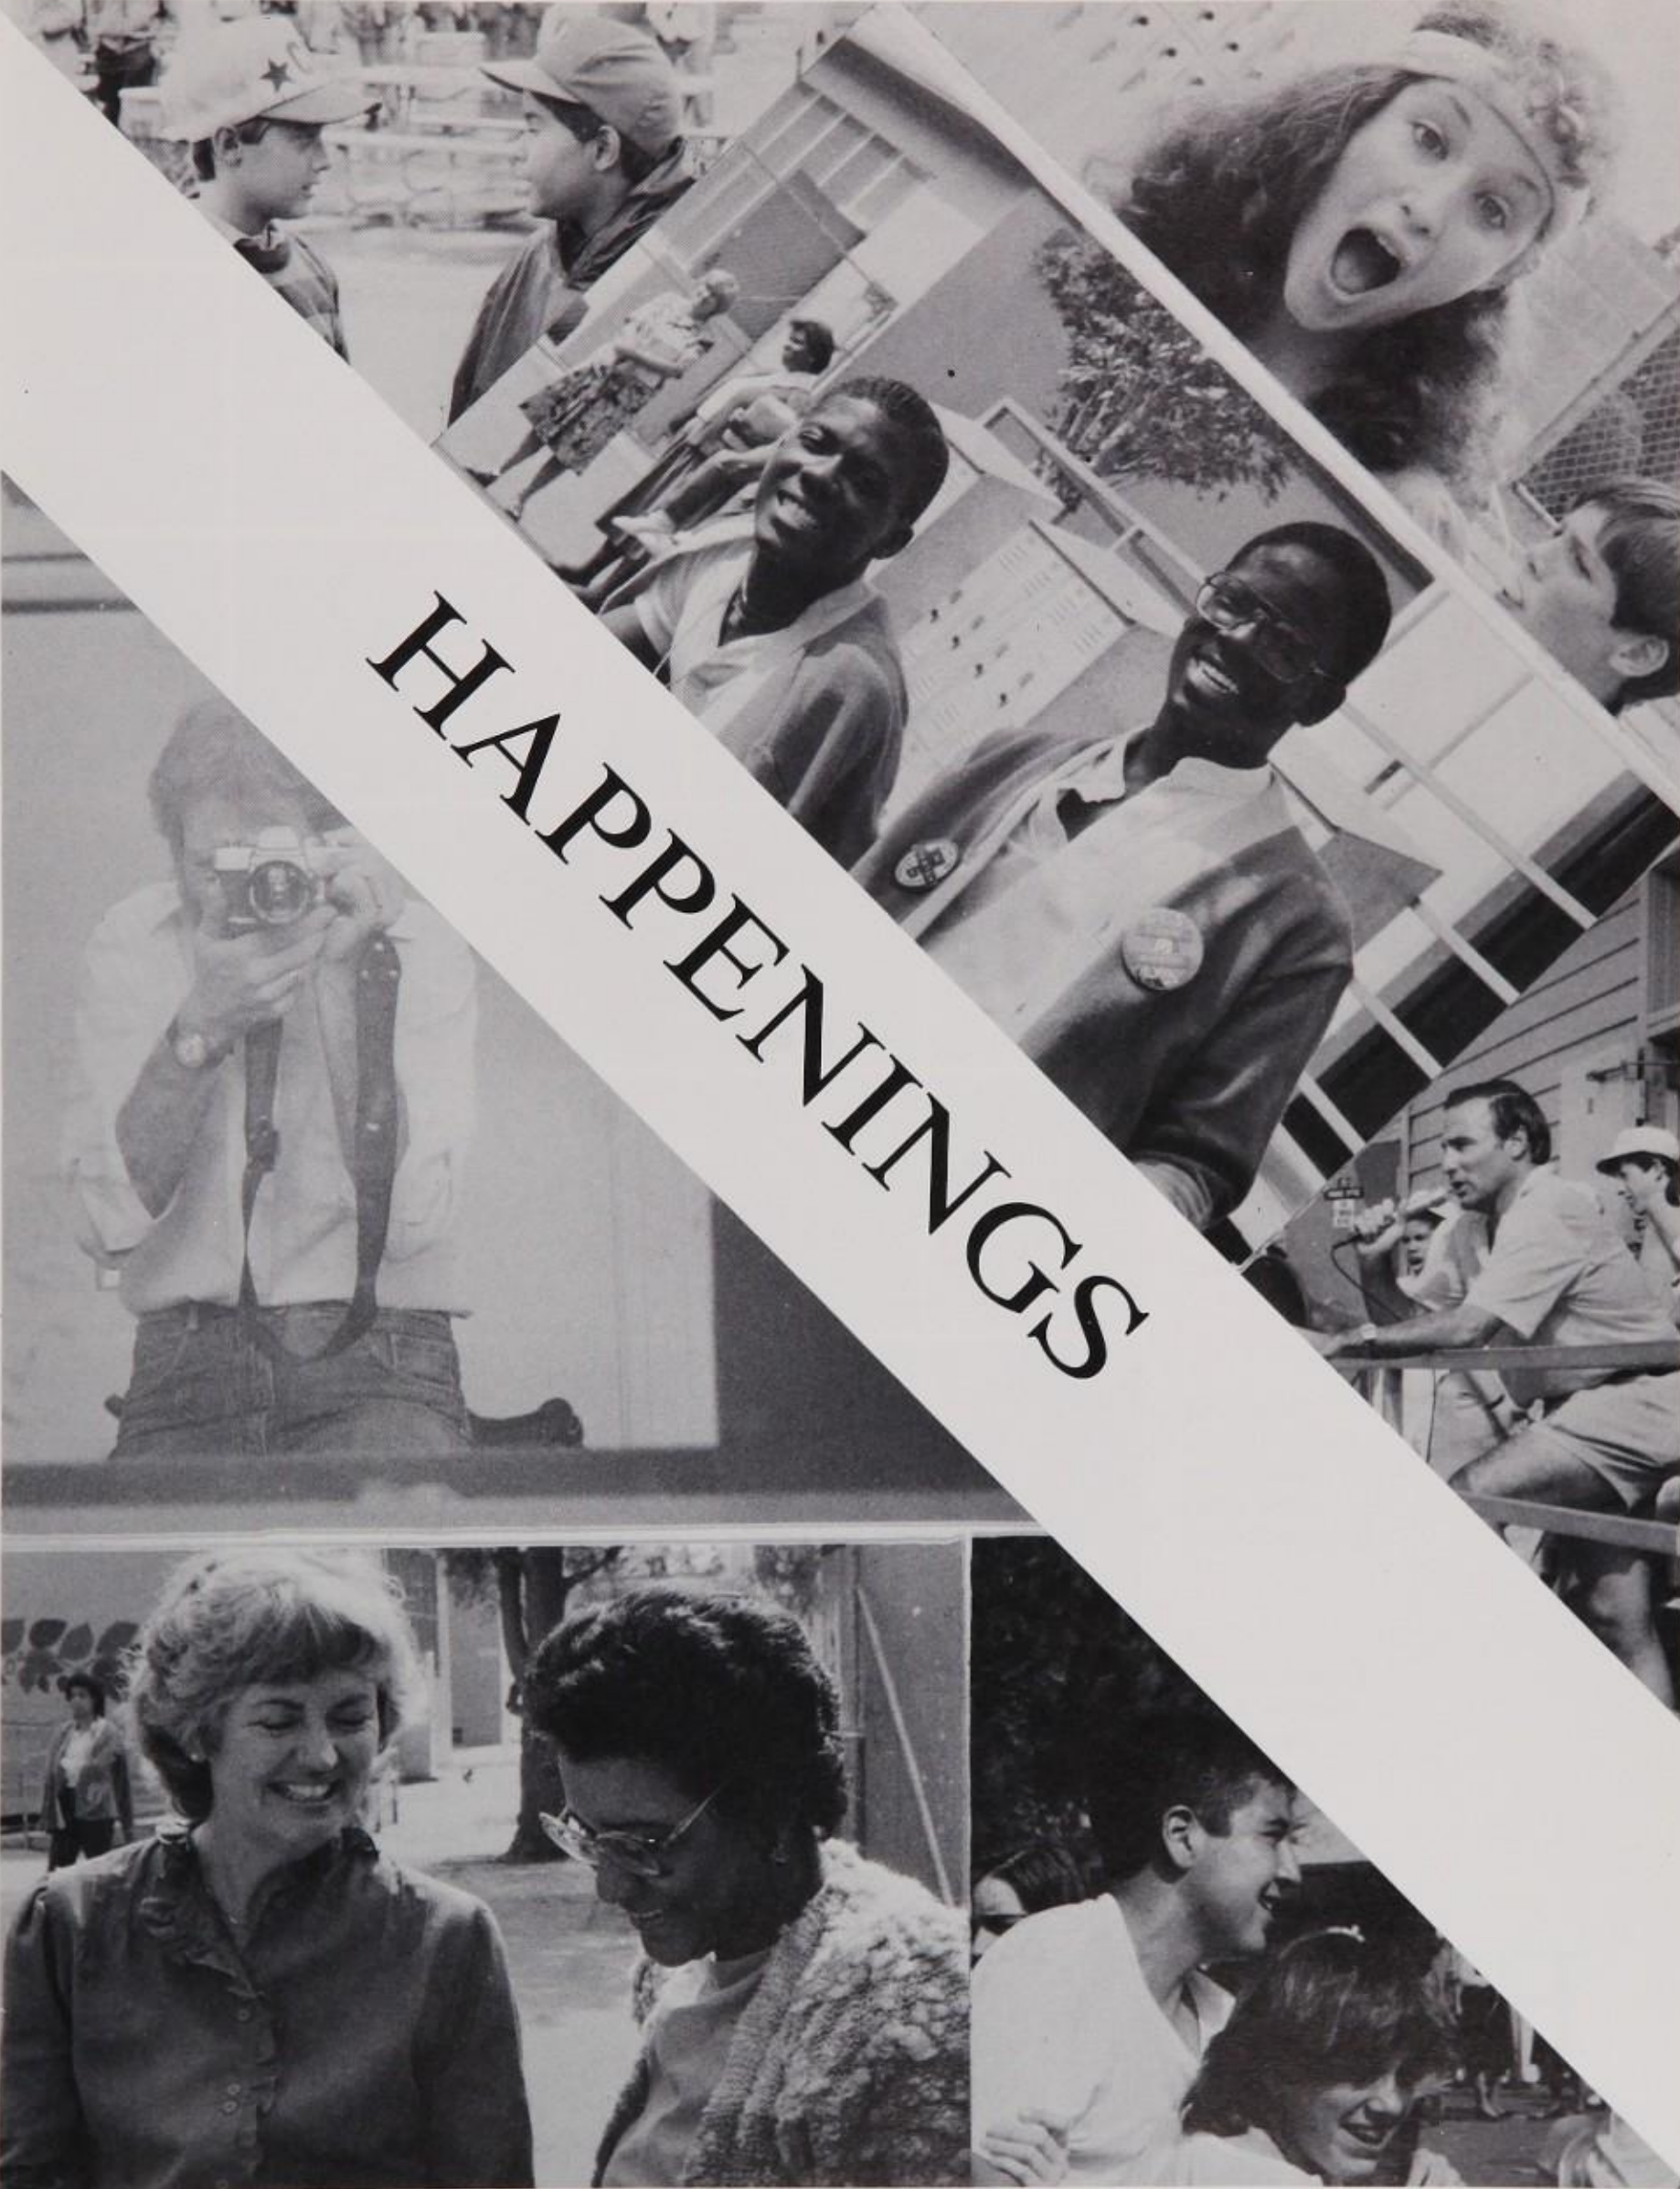

Myrna Palmer — Office Staff
 "Busy!" "Yes, reading."

Hermina Galvan — Office Staff
 "It's interesting and enjoyable. I especially enjoy close student contact." "Getting together with favorite friends, learning and studying."

YEARBOOK STAFF

How to make a yearbook page . . .

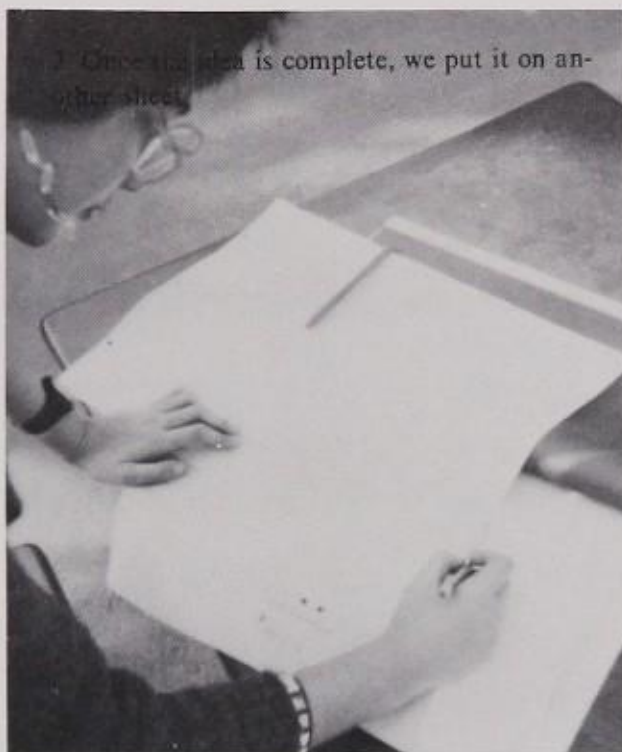

1. We start with a sheet of graph paper and roughly design an idea.

5. We indicate to the yearbook company what size and shape the photos should be.

2. Once the idea is complete, we put it on another sheet.

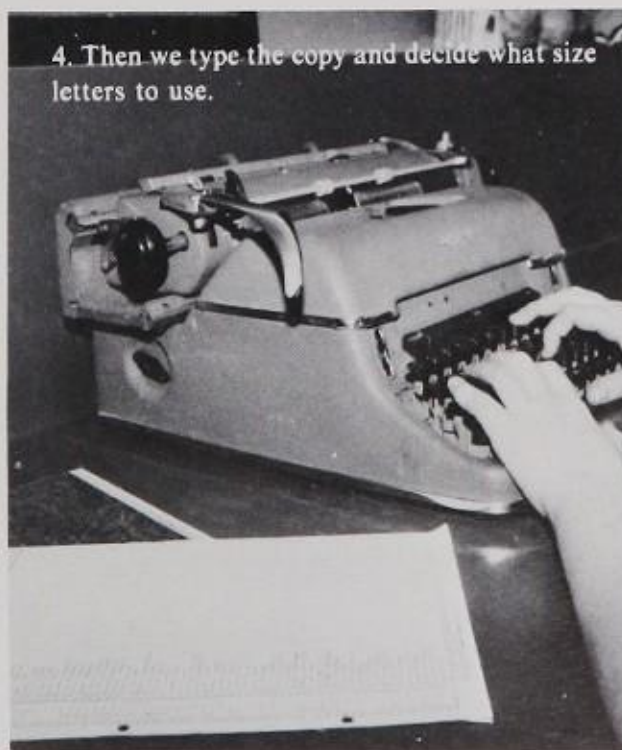

3. We then take photos of the things we need for the page.

6. Last step: we tag and code the photos, put everything into an envelope and give it to the yearbook company, and, at the end of the year . . .

4. Then we type the copy and decide what size letters to use.

. . . in just 6 steps!

Thanks to Helaine Charney and Suzy Sloane who joined us 2nd semester. They contributed lots of good ideas.

OLIVER

In starting production on "Oliver", Mr. Davisson was faced with many problems. There was no theater so the cast had to use the church across the street. The right time to rehearse turned out to be after school and the actors had to get their own transportation home.

But those who saw "Oliver" understood that Mr. Davisson and company overcame these difficulties, and performed before large and enthusiastic audience. "The show turned out to be wonderful. I always, however, want all shows to be better. Even as I watch a performance, I see ways that I could have directed differently," said Mr. Davisson.

Thanx to Marth-Lou Wolff for the photos!!!

ADDING DIMENSIONS

This year a dimension has been added to C.E.S. As a result of the C.E.S. building committee our school now has its long awaited Rose Cottage and multipurpose room.

The building once belonged to the Sisters of the Good Shephard and served as a gym for Pelletier High School for girls. In 1977 the school was closed for administrative reasons. Later, in 1979, the property was sold to the Los Angeles Unified School District.

Mr. Bob Bowman and Mr. Al Levine were the persistent advocates who cut through the red tape that stalled the renovation of the new building. After years of frustration the construction finally began. Because of Mr. Bowman, Mr. Levine, and the C.E.S. building committee, the once ruined shell is now a shiny, useful addition to our school.

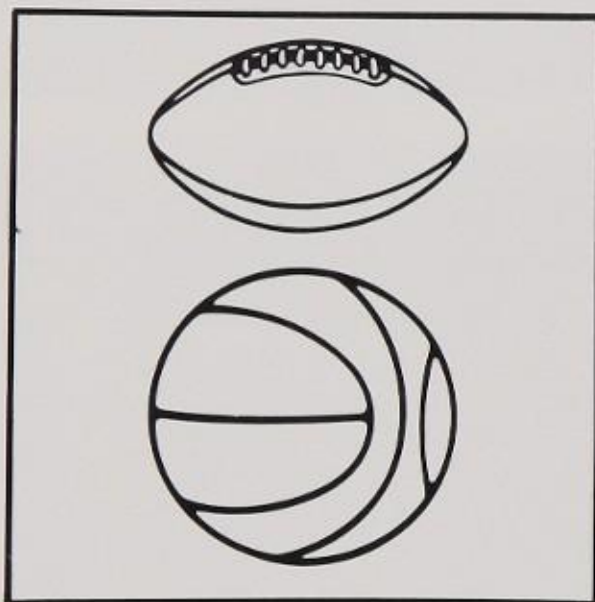

1. signs of construction
2. hard at work
3. Mr. Moore taking a nap in his brand new office.
4. The ribbon cutting ceremony opening our new building.
5. & 6. before . . . and after
7. the C.E.S. building committee
8. one of the building's modern conveniences
9. A map to guide you through the Rose Cottage
10. (lf. to rt.) Mrs. Collins, Mr. Bowman, and Mr. Levine.

Advanced team sports is fast, exciting, and competitive. It is coached by Steve Miller and made up of the best athletes in the school. Basketball, football, softball, and volleyball are in the program. Last year's volleyball team coached by Steve Miller and Don Nobles defeated Bancroft Junior High School at Hamilton High School for the city championship. Since its beginning in 1982, Advanced Team Sports has grown to become a respected part of the CES athletic curriculum.

ADVANCED TEAM SPORTS

- A Thomas Johnson is the point guard for the basketball team.
- B Stretching is required during team warmups.
- C There is a lot of contact even though it is only Flag Football.
- D Lavinski Jones and Dion McClendon are two of the starters for the C.E.S. Football team.
- E There is a slight height difference between 5 foot Mrs. Altshiller and 7 foot 8 inch George "sky" Bell, who plays for the Hollywood Hoops.
- F The Hollywood Hoops came to perform their basketball tricks for some lunch time entertainment.
- G Lavinski Jones pulls up for two to help C.E.S. defeat Valley Alternative, 35 to 28.
- H The fast break drill is a part of the team's physical conditioning.

Cheerleaders — Angela Alexander, Lisa Alford, Dawn Beckman, Kemo Echols, Ometra Else, Terri Else, Stephanie Ewing, Stephanie Gilmore, Tracey Jones (Captain), Darice Perry, Monique Pryor, Angela Robinson, Cynthia Way, Nashana Wright.

There are three different Drill Teams at C.E.S. These are the Elementary, Junior and Senior High. The leader and coordinator of all three is Carol Altschiller. The Drill Teams of C.E.S. always succeed in dazzling the students with their impressive, precision movements.

HOLIDAY

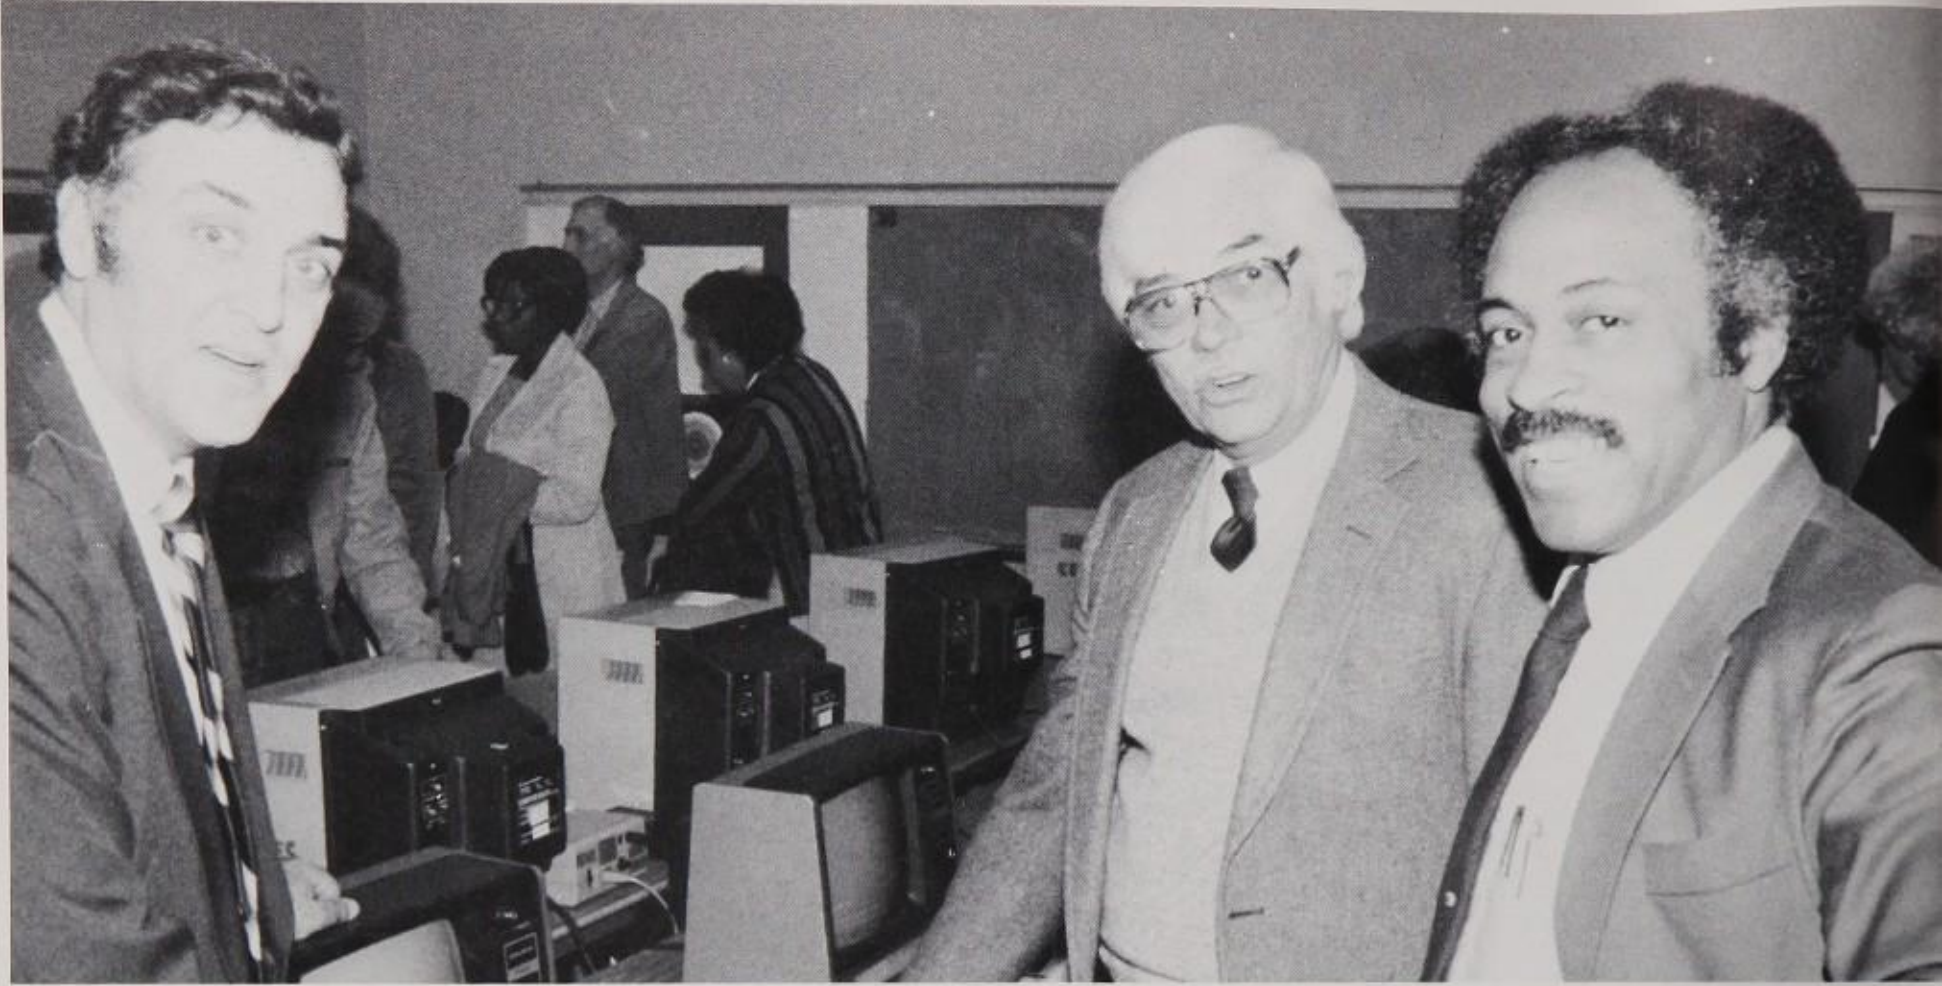

PROGRAM

This year's Holiday Program, dedicated to the theme "Peace on Earth", was held in the recently completed multi-purpose room. The orchestra and jazz bands, under the direction of Dr. Joel Levine, and the choral groups, directed by Randy Lambert, performed before a large and enthusiastic audience. It was a festive way to inaugurate our new building!

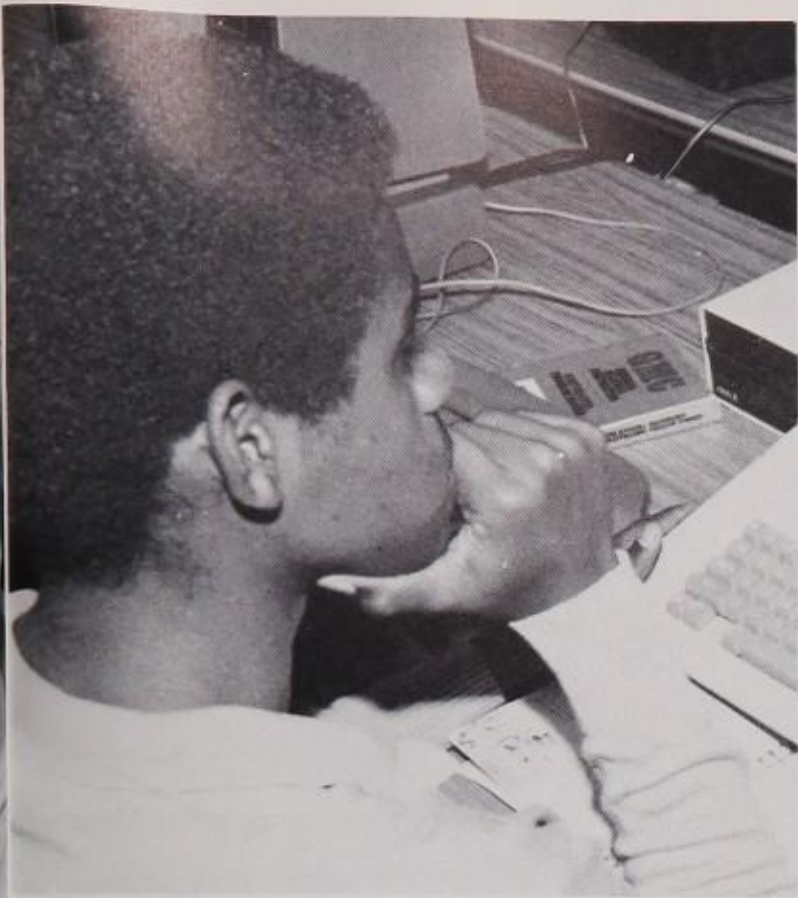

COMPUTERS

1984 was a new dimension for C.E.S. A new computer room was developed to give each student an introduction to the skills and languages of computers. With instruction by Warren Buckner and Rick Mina students are learning skills which can help them in today's competitive and technological world.

We received a grant of twelve new computers from the Commodore Computer Company. The Apple Computer Company also donated computers and a few generous families donated some as well. Not only were computers donated by families but they also donated money that went towards security and air-conditioning for the room. Because of the new computer room, students will be expanding their knowledge of modern technology.

SULLIVAN

The Gilbert and Sullivan club started a few years ago as a lunch-time special activity. But lunchtimes were too short and many interesting students were involved in other lunch meetings or activities.

Gilbert and Sullivan is now a regularly scheduled elective class and is one of the first classes to fill up. We do two abridged plays a semester which exposes the students to more plays and allows for more "lead parts".

Everyone in the class is on stage for both shows.

In the past we have performed:

H.M.S. Pinafore	The Mikado
The Pirates of Penzance	The Yeomen of The Guard
Trial by Jury	The Gondoliers
Patience

We are finally getting out of CES. Can you believe it? I can't. I'm really happy that school is over but I'm going to miss you. Honestly, I consider you a really, really good friend and your friendship means a lot to me. Please don't forget about me over the summer and in years to come. Call me if you are ever in need to talk. I think you are a really nice person and I can always talk to you about things that are bothering me. Thanks for always listening to me complain. You really helped me get through the year and you made life bearable.

ON OFF

SIGN HERE!

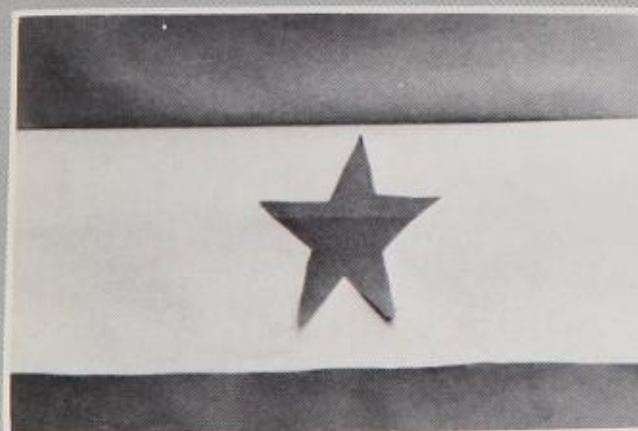

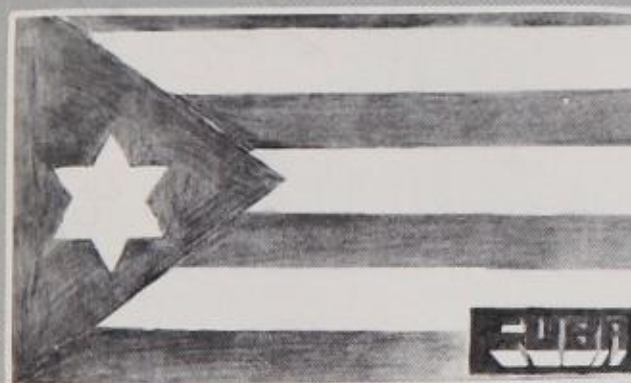

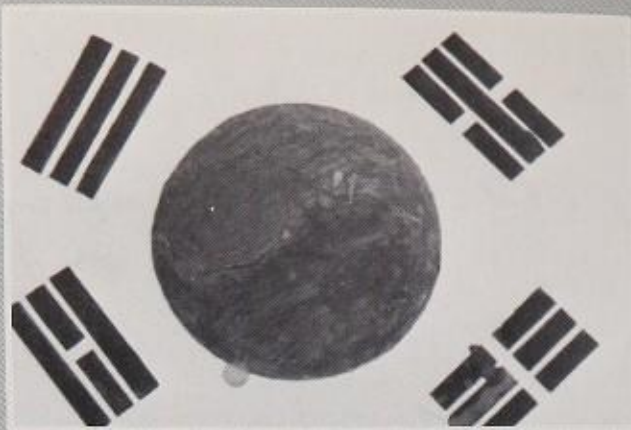

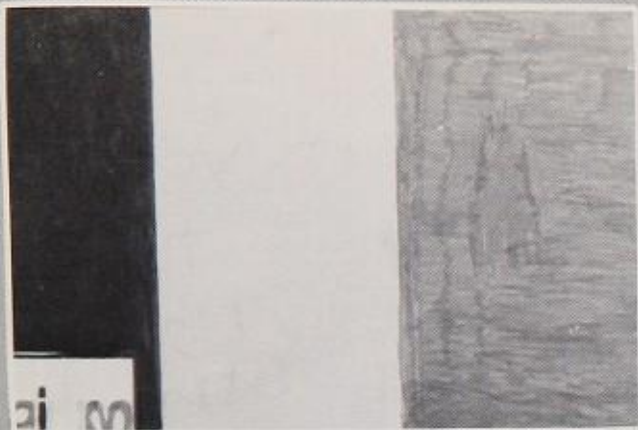

It's hard to say everything on 1 page of a yearbook so bear with me. I feel like I've known you all my life. Enough of this! I know I'm boring you but I really am grateful to you for being so understanding. I am glad we are friends and I hope we stay close forever. Maybe we could see each other over the summer when and if Eva and Grant go out.

Thanks again.

VOL.

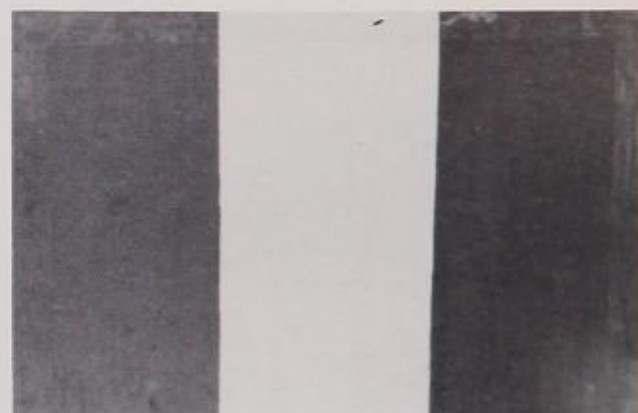

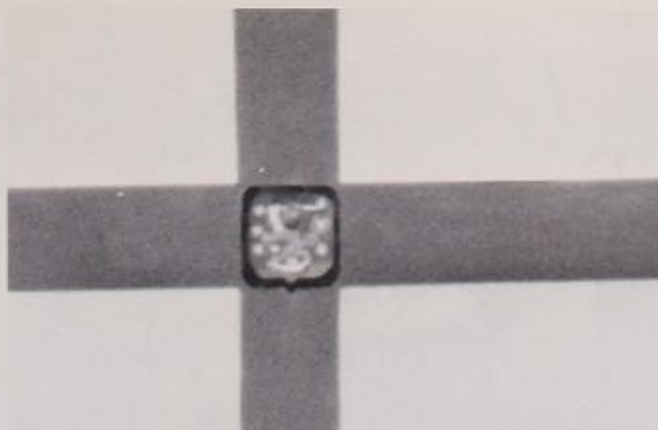

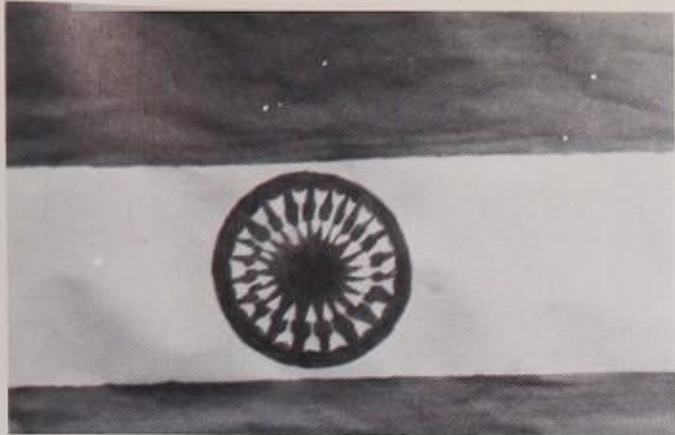

CES Celebrates the Olympics.

The Olympics at CES consist of activities such as softball games between different countries (each homeroom represents a nation of the world), an essay writing contest, membership in Friends of CES and special guest speakers. The Howard sisters, Deneen, Sheri and Tina, were featured as special guests. They are the fastest women in the 50 and 100 meter relay. Their father is their coach and it is very likely that these young women may win many medals at the 1984 Olympics.

The Howard family came to CES to talk about the 1984 Olympics and past Olympic games.

CES guest speakers, Deneen, Sheri and Tina Howard will be competing in the 1984 Summer Olympics as favorites in the relays.

The French Connection is a banner you'll never forget.

Lazard Ward is ready to hit a grand slam homerun for his Olympic baseball team.

The Romanians are hot and ready to meet any competitor with their awesome banner.

— Camay Harris

The writing on these pages
came out of the special workshops conducted by Ameen Alwan. The project is jointly funded by C.E.S. and a grant from the California Arts Council.

Ain't no way
to accept it,
the way I
wrote it.
It's just there,
ain't no way.
It's mine, but
who cares,
ain't no way.
I wrote it
with heart,
with all I got.
But it's worthless,
ain't no way.
I like it,
but you don't.
Why?
Am I not
talented?
Am I not
gifted?
Figuring out
how to please
you.
Ain't no way.

— Shawn Walker

The horizon in front of me —
a carrot with a stick
never getting closer,
always an equal distance
away.

The ground is baked
and hard
like a stale piece of bread
full of holes
and ruts
into which little animals
scurry,
not sure what I am;
my canvas top
has shrunk
and is tightly stretched between my ribs.

My wheels are
old, dry and brittle.
Slowly they turn —
the ghosts of the land
are everywhere
and I may well become one.
My frame groans
as my wheel sinks
in a pot hole.

My axle is broken.
I am unloaded
and on they go.
Perhaps they will come back and
find me — no
they never will.
I am a relic of
a different time,
a covered wagon.

— Daniel Roberts

TUG OF WAR

It happened again.
 My dad is there
 but I still feel alone
 and helpless.
 I don't want to leave,
 I don't even want
 him to leave me for a second.
 I want a chain to lock
 me to him,
 but there isn't one that can't be cut.
 There are people laughing
 and smiling,
 but no one crying
 like me.
 I feel like a sailing boat with no wind and
 no sails.
 I get stretched out
 more every time
 but it still doesn't get easier.
 My plane is here,
 I must leave.
 "No," I shout, and everyone
 looks at me.
 I want to scream
 at them, but I can't speak anymore.
 Another one of these trips and I won't be able to think anymore.
 The goodbyes and the plane ride go quickly,
 and the next thing I know
 I'm in my mother's arms.
 I miss him already.

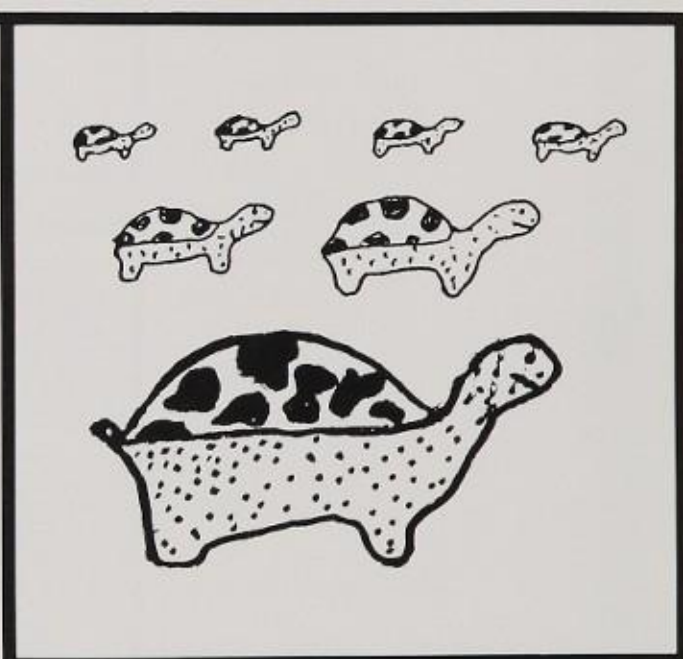

— Jacob Lifson

TURTLES

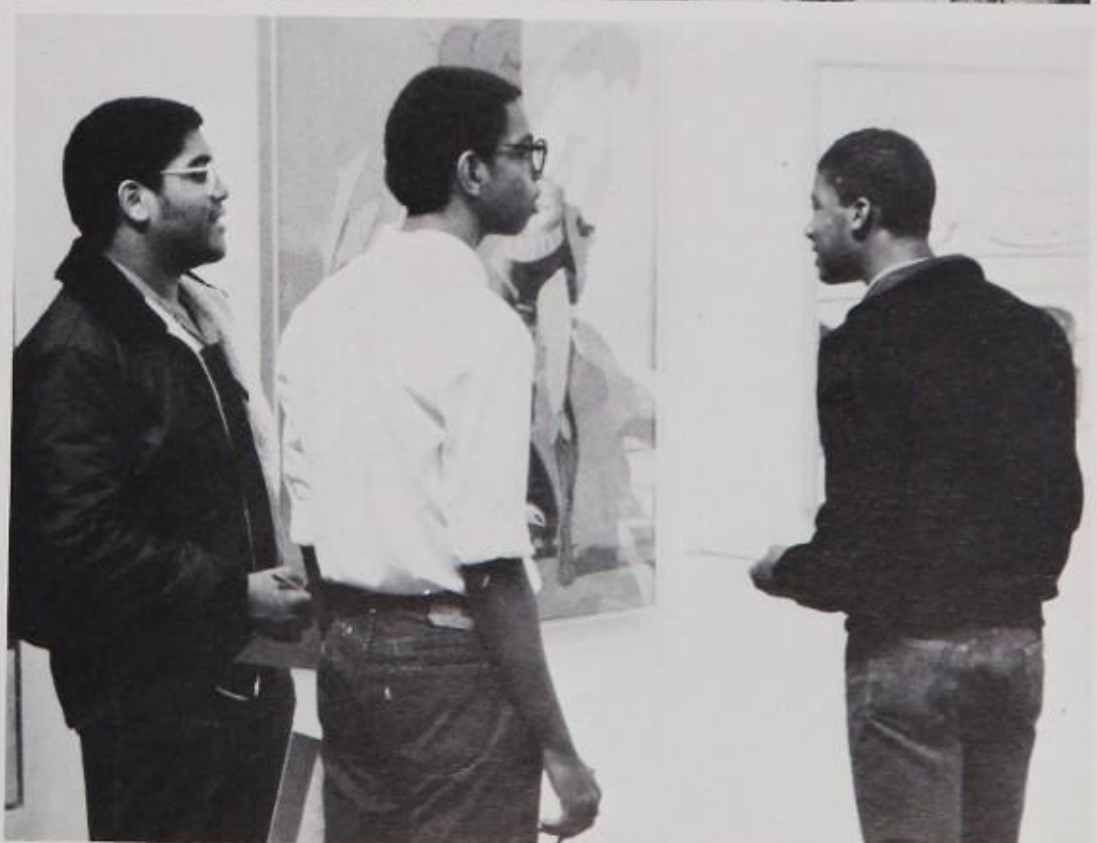

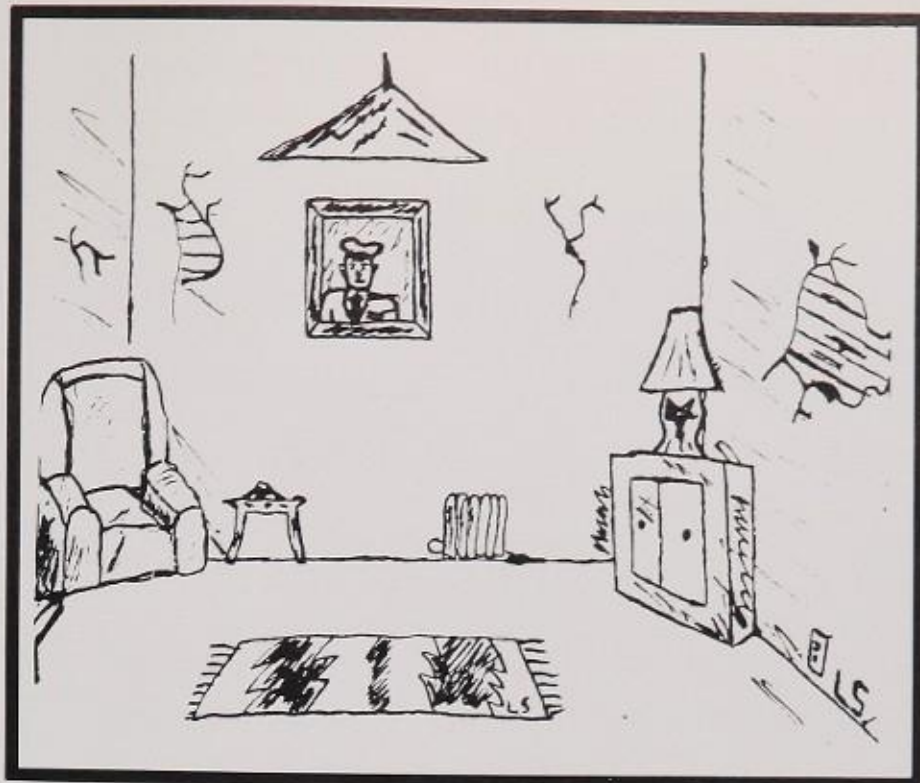

Turtles are an unknown species.
 There has never been a smiling turtle — much like there has never been a frowning dog, or a thin pig.
 They are like ancient gods.
 Turtles are sleeping giants.
 To some they look like wise men.
 To others they look like
 rifle targets.

— Nicholas Demopoulos

My best friend
 my worst enemy
 my teacher and my student,
 he brought sunshine
 wherever he went.
 He was a peach tree
 forever giving himself.
 There was a chair.
 He loved
 that chair — he would sit in it for hours telling stories,
 stories of the last war
 he was in.
 He was then
 a lieutenant
 in the Marines.
 Ten years later
 he went off to war
 once more, now a major.
 When we heard the news
 we felt so cold, so dark.
 The sun was now gone.
 No matter how high we turned the heater up, or how many lights we put on,
 he was gone.
 The black cold dark
 settled in our blood.
 All that was left
 was his chair.

— Barrett Carrere

FUTURE

Without an education
I'm a nothing.
I would probably be a shipping clerk
or janitor.

On the other hand
if I get an education
I will probably be an engineer
or
a businessman.

I think I'd rather be an engineer
or
a businessman.

My life will not be like
a slice of gray.
Instead it will be like a sugarmill filled
mangoes and oranges.

— Omar Roa

I stood in the corridor.
A friend and I had just finished
swimming.
A warm breeze ran
through the room
reminding us of the scorching heat we had temporarily relieved ourselves of.
We perched ourselves
on a bench like
abandoned animals
hoping for a new start.
He turned on the radio
and it came to us — a burst of light filling the entire area with its presence.
We forgot the misery
of the day
and found ourselves
in a trance.
We had forgotten all
of our previous thoughts,
as if someone had rewritten
a poem
leaving room for new thoughts
to enter.
I knew that music
was my new religion
and I had just received my first sacrament.

— Tania Russell

SMELLY OLD MULE

You're a smelly old
mule.
All your stubbornness
and hate
has been getting you nothing
but loneliness and sorrow.

You're like an old
sea hag
locked in a dark eerie dungeon
looking desperately for the key that will open into
a world of love,
the world you
want!

You won't ask for it —
No!

You're a smelly old
mule.

You just continue
to go around leaving your smell of evil
that stains
like blood on a
silk dress.
Stains like
an arrow plunged into a pumping
heart.

I know you, but I don't.
I hate you, but I love you.
You're a mirror that gives off no
reflection —
you confuse
me!

You're like a jigsaw puzzle
that is almost solved
but you take
and you hid
that last piece.

Damn you —
you smelly old
mule.

— Angelique Jacques

THE COIN

The coin is an abused
child, burned at a young age, dropped at four. It travels endless miles in search of what?
Some contentment?
Some apple pie?
Fame?
Hairspray and purple
lipstick?
A rest and sunlight.
Newspaper is bought,
sweat is exchanged.
The coin is dropped again,
rebounding off other creeds, crashing into ale.
The coin begins
the journey
again.
Greed sings.

— Andy Pataky

ART AND LITERATURE

Each is the shadow of the other
But no bonds connect them.
Without restraint they roll
Or so it seems.
Their fear is a puppeteer
But it is well concealed Beneath a hard shell.
But I can see.
Stay within the ring!
For beyond the chalk border lay
the desert planes of individuality.
The puppeteer pulls strings
but when one gets fidgety
He puts his clones to use.
They select a victim —
A good friend,
A slight tap is sufficient, then Although each knows it might be next
They roll to the center and meet with a "clique."

— Lara Mendel

I had seen her once before
this way.
But
only for a minute. But that brief
60 seconds meant a lot.
She never cried out or made any noise
that indicated the pain she was having.
But
then she cried,
and we knew there was
hope.

— Illana Pressman

I hold the balloon,
grabbing it tightly
but it always seems to wiggle free
like a person
eager to escape from the grasp of life.

— Julie Glaser

You are changing —
a brush going
through wet hair.
You don't notice.
You grow like a flying cloud in the sky.
It seems like you're playing catch up
in growth with a friend.
Finally you can shoot a one-handed
shot in basketball
better than before.
Hair is appearing
and you feel macho
with yourself
and friends.
You feel like
a re-built bridge
on a new opening
day.
Bones are strengthening,
muscles are forming like a fetus in
a mother's womb.
Now you are delighted to race with friends.

— Gregory Maxwell

ENDING WITH . . .

9th GRADE RECOGNITION DAY

. . . A NEW BEGINNING

Mrs. Schroeder

She's nice and sweet. She cares a lot about her students.

Salpi Guiragosian

She took a lot of trust in her students.

Harlan Gleeson

We would like to take a moment to give a thank you and a farewell to three of our teachers, Mrs. Schroeder, Mrs. Takaki, and Mrs. Gray, who transferred out at the end of the first semester. I hope their new students learn as much from them as we have.

Mrs. Takaki

She had good relationships with all of her students, and was very much liked by them.

Bryan Hanks

She was strict but nice.

Hartwell Davila

Mrs. Gray

Most of the people in her classes miss her very much, and really wish she were here.

Bryan Hanks

Too bad she had to leave — I miss her.

Barrett,

Don't throw it away on fun and games. Learn all you can while you can. Adulthood gets here sooner than you think, and I want to see you equipped, by the time you graduate, for UCLA.

Paul Dancett

Best wishes and thanks to Mr. Faucett, Mr. Brown, Booner, Mr. Rutchman and Mrs. Menck.

A very special thanks to Jeff, Adriane, Abrol, Aron, Andy, Bill, Katrina, Kevin, Eric, Adam, Sammy, and little Abrahamian, all of whom have helped make my days interesting and fun.

Thanks to Jay, Jesus, and Mike for their jokes.

And to my two very good, close friends, Amy and Alicia, thanks for putting up with me all of these years.

My love to all of you, Yvonne.
